

PAUL DENEUI MINISTRIES

"Strengthening The Saved & Saving The Lost"

November 2021

Dear Friends,

Wednesday - November 3rd

It was so good to be back in Brentwood. We sang a lot of hymns today because we were so excited to be together again. It was a hymn-fest. Then we opened the Word to 1 Peter 2:24 and talked about healing from God's Word. Many of us are dealing with health issues right now. It's so good to know God wants us healthy and whole. After the service, there were several who came to me wanting prayer for loved ones.

I was so touched by that fact that they could be asking for prayer for themselves and yet they were asking for others. What an amazing group of residents. Praise the Lord.

Wednesday - November 10th

I had not been able to be in Eastgate for quite some time. We were all excited to see each other again. The staff brought in many, many residents and we had a wonderful time in the Lord.

Now-days when nursing homes open to visitors or volunteers there seems to be a common theme. Put your mask on before you enter. There will be a table inside the main entrance. Someone will be there to take your temperature or you can take it yourself. Then a page of questions to answer. Once I get to my "ministry spot", I take off my mask. (If I can't take off my mask, I don't go because no one can understand me.)

On the way home, I received a text from an activities director from another facility who informed me that they were closed again. There would be no activities for December. And so it goes. I immediately realized I needed to produce a Christmas program online that all the residents would have access to.

And so here we are, in the middle of production. The studio is all decorated with lights and a tree. (Actually I'm using a green screen.) I will be producing a Christmas program for all the nursing homes that will be available to them through FaceBook, Twitter, and YouTube. We are going in every way and any way we can. This is going to be fun, uplifting, and encouraging.

THE HOMELESS

I have some good news with the homeless ministry. Throughout the last year and a half or so, I've contacted and worked with several ministries who work with the homeless. Even though they all do great work, I have continued to search for just the right one that fits with what I am doing. Then I found "the Merchant". This ministry is in the Pearl district, Tulsa. Their vision lines up with mine in so many ways. The last message I received from them was, "Love to have you partner beside me and touch hearts who just need an ear, a hug and a prayer." (I'm sure you will be hearing more about this.)

I am so blessed to have you all as my supporters. You have blessed me in so many ways. Through your prayers, your encouragement, and your finances. It's hard to go it alone. But because of you I have never been alone. Together we are making incredible strides in helping build the Kingdom of God. We are seeing more people come into the Kingdom than ever before.
